

Living Generously at Malmo Mission Covenant Church

Jesus taught us to live generously and as a church we strive to live into that. We support our own ministries, the broader local community, as well as the world through our offerings and special giving Sundays. But living generously is not limited to the ways we spend money. Instead, living generously relates to how we use all of our resources, which also includes our time, our gifts, and our physical effort.

What are the ways that I can give financially?

Malmo receives financial donations for both our own ministry work and for ministries across Canada that have been approved by the Church.

At any time throughout the year, a donation can be given to support the ministry work that is ongoing at Malmo. Financial donations can be made by:

- cheques or cash (offering envelopes available in the pew)
- online at: www.malmochurch.ca/generosity/online-giving/

We also support other ministries outside of Malmo. Once per month, we have a 'Special Giving Sunday', which highlights different ministries across Canada which we as a Church feel are important to support. On these Sundays, we give you an opportunity to support these ministries financially by making out your cheques directly to the highlighted ministry. We then send these gifts to them as our support from Malmo. (Only cheques and cash can be used for the Special Giving Sundays. No online giving.)

What are the different areas that we can give to support Malmo's own ministry?

Tax receipts are issued once a year for all donations received.*
